AWARD OF PREMIUMS, BABY SHOW

RACING AND DRAWING EVENTS STARTED

WEDNESDAY'S ATTENDANCE CALLED 1,800

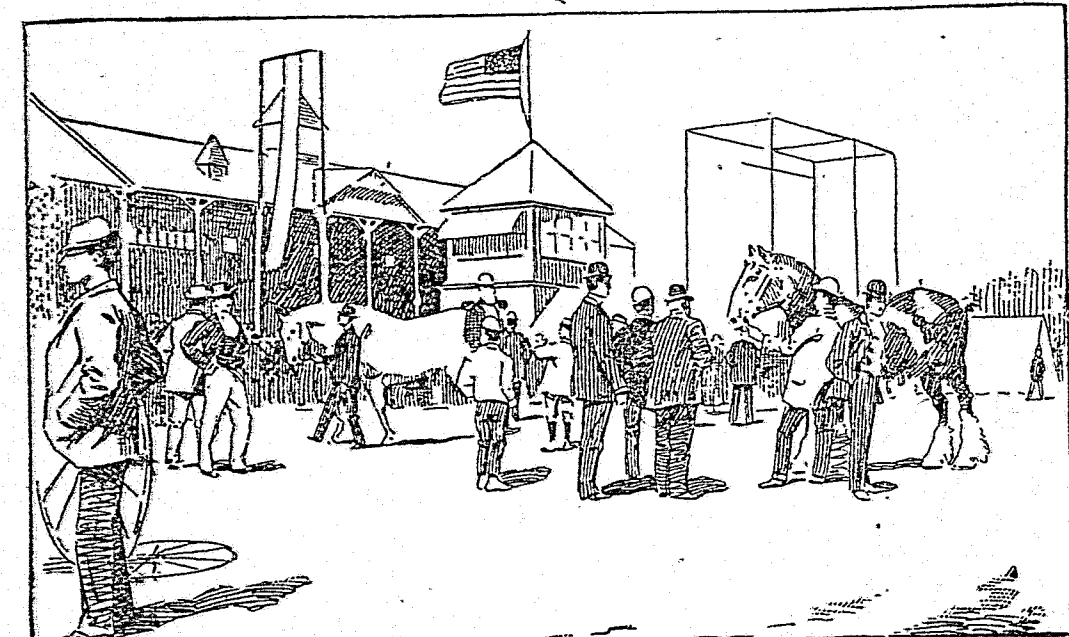

Thursday Fair and Warner Gives Promise of Record Breaking Attendance and Unprecedented Success.

Wednesday's Attendance.
The attendance of the first day was estimated at 1,800, rather more than less, and even with the set back of a day's postponement, gave the greatest promise for success. There was a good crowd at the ball field, in the afternoon, a large crowd at the pulling contest, a large number on the grand stand, while there were many who did not leave the Trail through the afternoon. Everyone expressed a hope that Thursday, would be pleasant.

The Races.
Despite the threatening rain the track proved to be in fairly good condition. Wednesday. About 200 watched the races from the grand stand with many spectators at the ball game.
The races started at 2:00 o'clock. The Norway Cadet Band was in attendance. The judges—Charles Crosby, W. H. Kilgore, C. L. Jenkins.
The time—R. E. Fletcher, Thomas Thibodeau, George Jones.
The 2.30 class, trot and pace, was won by Rosamond g. m., owned by F. B. Rideout, Moncton, N. B.

Thursday's Opening.
Contrary to the fears of many, the second day of the fair dawned bright, clear and warm, and the fair goers were early preparing to attend the great show. The cattle came in early and certainly this exhibit in one of the best for years. This fair is recommended for the excellence of the stock. The patrons came early, and the grounds presented a very animated appearance very quickly. Everyone came prepared for a good time and had it.

The Baby Show.
The baby show was the attraction, Wednesday afternoon, and the 21 babies of 15 months and under, and the 12 for 12 months from 15 months to 2 years kept the judges—Sue Wheeler, South Paris; Mrs. H. F. Andrews, Norway; Mrs. Herman Wilson, South Paris; and Mrs. Fred Hosmer, Norway—busy and gave them lots of trouble deciding who should have the prizes. All the babies deserved a present and the society gave them all a present.
In the 15 months old and under class it was decided—Bessie Louise Greeley, 1st, $6.00; Marjory A. Edwards, 2d, $4.00; Clara Webb, 3d, $4.00; Robert Maxim Hicks, 4th, $3.00; Carroll R. DeCoster, 5th, $1.00.

Second heat, after scoring several times a start was made. The same was true on the first heat, it being necessary to score several times before a start was made. The heat was won by Rosamond. Time 3:32 1/2.

Third heat. At the end of the first half the interest was between Rosamond and Red Elm Boy for second place, Red Elm Boy coming in second ahead of Maud Nuttal. Rosamond won the heat and race. Rena Wilkes, Red Elm Boy and Maud Nuttal won 2d, 3d and 4th money divided. Time 2:50 1/2.

Second Heat—In the second heat Pointer Patchin led for the mile, the interest coming between Dodge and Ruby Wilkes. It was a tight race, the two horses coming under the wire neck and neck and it was impossible for those on the grand stand to determine the position. Time 2:23 1/2.

Third Heat—In the third heat the contest was between Pointer Patchin and test was between Pointer Patchin and Little Glimmer, the latter leading on the first half and coming in second on the mile. Pointer Patchin won the heat and race. Ruby Wilkes won second money. Little Glimmer third money. Dodge fourth. Little Glimmer was placed fourth because of foul driving. Time 2:23 1/2.

The familiar face of C. F. Boober is seen on the special police force.
An interesting dog at the fair that attracts considerable attention, is the pure blooded Scotch, St. Bernard, owned by Dudley and White, photographers of Hampton Beach, Mass. This dog weighs considerably over 170 pounds, attired with a gorgeous blanket and bells. His father was a famous blooded dog, recently selling at a New York dog show for $4,000.
The people who patronize the judge's stand are very careful not to disturb the birds' nests there. The birds build new nests each year, adding a new one this season.
The grounds about the grand stand are neat and clean this season. The fence all having been painted, and many objectionable buildings and signs removed.

Drawing Horses.

After the cattle pulling were drawn the horses, which as in the drawing drew a crowd. Shouting drivers and earnest horses striving for all they are worth make these classes a very entertaining feature. In the rain was drawn the light class of horses. There were five contestants. The first pair belonged to R. K. Morrill, who drove them. They weighed 2380 pounds. They went ahead in a good strong pull and drew the load 139 feet 8 inches.
The second pair belonged to C. A. Richardson of Greenwood, weighing 2340 pounds, and were driven by Leland Yates. They drew the load 48 feet 4 inches.
The next pair belonged to H. R. Berry, Hartford, weighing 2370 pounds. They drew the load 34 feet 2 inches.
The fourth pair were driven by R. C.

Colby, Denmark, the owner, and weighed 2395 pounds. They made 102 feet 10 inches, making good and steady pulls. The next pair was driven by Sidney Thayer, belonging to Thayer Bros. of Paris. Their weight was 2875 pounds. Their distance was 93 feet 1 inch. This was one of the cleanest pulling teams of the day.
The pulling in this class was completed about half past five and the heavy class was postponed to Thursday.

Drawing Oxen.

The drawing commenced Wednesday afternoon the first thing, with the 7 foot 6 inch class, the load weighing 1200 pounds. There were five entries. Moses Young, Hartford, started first. His oxen girthed 7 feet 5 1/2 inches. Moses is an enthusiastic driver and gets all out of the team they are capable of. Drew 7 feet 8 1/2 inches.
Laforet Whitman of Buckfield had a fine team. He drove them easily 7 feet 3 inches and 7 feet 4 inches, 8 feet 2 inches. J. C. Hough, West Paris, was the third driver, with a pair girthed 7 feet 9 in. They drew the load 5 feet 7 inches.

The fourth pair to pull were owned and driven by Moses Young of Hartford. 7 feet 6 inches. They were fine pullers and drew the load 22 feet 3 inches.
The last team to pull was that of John P. Foutley of South Paris, girthed 7 feet and 8 inches. John, who has usually been a judge in these classes, is a good driver. His team drew the load 18 feet 6 inches.

R. K. Morrill, Norway, has a pair of horses entered in the pulling classes.
J. C. Hough, West Paris, had one pair oxen entered in the pulling classes.

Athletics 3 Oxfords 1.

The ball game, Wednesday afternoon, was a very interesting game to watch, and was finely contested from start to finish. The athletic team played to a finish. Bonney and Lowell, of the former Redcliffe nine, and Sparks, of last year's Norway's, the Oxford's strengthened a weak spot with Clason, of South Paris. Oxford's luck seemed to have deserted them, and they were defeated by a close margin, their only score being in the ninth inning.

In the Upper Hall.

The exhibits here were being put in place Tuesday and out of all the confusion there came Wednesday as fine a display as ever greeted the Oxford County Fair patrons. It was all ready for the second day save a few finishing touches here and there. Those who had charge of the different departments were in their places and ready to answer the thousand and one questions asked them. Many of these people have been here so often at fairs that their faces have become familiar. We look for them, thick at times and would be disappointed if we did not see them.

Wednesday afternoon, the first day, there was a goodly number of interested sightseers at the hall exhibit without being crowded. Everything was freshly put up and the "shop worn" look that must come later when the crowds of people have pushed and elbowed by it, the dust settled in, and the decorations were withered, were not there. The hall show was at its best.

H. D. Hammond, the superintendent of the hall, says that more space has been taken this year than ever before and appearance goes to carry out this assertion. The one thing the management of the Oxford County Fair overlooked, that was making arrangements with the weather bureau for pleasant weather.

Four Granges occupy a large portion of the hall at Norway. Paris, Fredrick Robie of Oufield and Bear Mountain of South Waterford.

We have never seen a larger display of fancy articles than this year, and the quilts and rugs simply cover the walls and show a deal of the space.

Norway Grange has the space between and over the stairs the same as last year. The colors of the decorations are green and white. The white is draped from the central square to form a solid piece that is caught up in the center with a large fringed rosette. From this is suspended a swing of ribbons in which is seated two dolls dressed in green and corn color representing Flora and Ceres. Pomona dressed in pink and orange, the others with a ribbon cord is just coming through the old farm gate. This gate is made of foliage and white flowers and swinging in front of the white lace draped window makes a very pretty picture, and a fair many back to the memory of a farm life days when they as children swung on the "old farm gate." In one corner over the stairs there is a scene in evergreens, mounted animals and furs, and Eskimo snow shoes to boot. The other side is banked with canned fruits. There are two cabinets filled with ancient dishes, well preserved and of much value. The three brass candle sticks and snuffer on a tray have a place of honor, and the two cases of cooked food and dairy products make us wish for a bite. Mrs. Sarah Morse, who lives in the Crockett Ridge neighborhood, braved the cold of Monday and brought in some samples of work done by her of years ago, fine linen hose, embroidery in linen handkerchiefs, towels, etc. The lace from which these were made was raised on her father's farm in Paton and she as a girl helped to prepare it, also spun and wove it. She showed a pair of worsted mittens over a hundred years old. There are paintings, fancy work, fruit, curiosities, in fact articles enough to make a good fair display in itself. Mrs. J. A. Roberts designed this display, as she has several years before, and she and her corps of efficient workers—J. A. Roberts, Mrs. E. A. Cox, Mrs. Minnie Haskell, Florence Grover, Mrs. Ella Royce, Mrs. Ella Berry, Ella Black, Mrs. Ina Pike, Mrs. Lizzie Lovering, Mrs. Algine Crooker, Frank Wood, Will Perry, Asa Frost and Mrs. A. T. Crooker—have carried it out. The fan like effects in front and the edge of autumn leaves are effective.

Bear Mountain Grange has chosen for its colors for decoration corn color, green and white. They use golden rod in with the green foliage. The whitened glades are of corn with squirrels playing about the door, and which turns by some mechanical contrivance, was manufactured by Fred Warren. The name of the Grange is in letters made of kernels of corn on white bordered with cedar. Mr. H. P. Smith's drawn rug represents her old home in Sweden, and is an unusually artistic rug. She also has embroidery made in 1888 and because of the amount of work in it and the fact that that particular kind of embroidery is now "in fashion" makes it noticeable. There is a copper and brass mug made in Russia and for beer drinking, whip and lash made from the lace-bark tree that grows in Jamaica, also a piece showing the lace from the same tree. Mrs. Willard Abbott and Carrie Hamilton, among them being a Krag Jorgensen rifle, and an old Remington carbine claimed to have been carried by a Cuban rebel through the Cuban war. Mrs. Leon York has a linen wheel made into a chair, the wheel forming the back. There is a gourd pocket flask from Tunis, Africa. W. K. Hamlin has wool rolls and batting from his mill. The committee is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Haggood. For associates they have Mrs. Willard Abbott and Carrie Hamilton.

Frederick Robie Grange has chosen the patriotic colors of red, white and blue. The letters of the name are made from sections of corn on the cob, being cut out of the depth of a kernel and tacked on a blue background. The potatoes are enormous in size and the farm products all show a healthy growth. They have the Philippine bolos, daggers and other war weapons, also the military buttons of the States of the Union.

There is a pair of cards such as were formerly used for hand carding. The sofa pillows are tacked up by one corner and this keeps them well in place. Ex-Gov. Robie's picture is in the central back, and in front there is a photo display. The committee who have gathered this collection is made up of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stone, Mrs. P. C. Greenleaf, J. H. Edwards and Ella Bean.

The Paris Grange is very dainty in pink, green and white. The decorations were especially designed by Mattie Richards, a member of the Grange. With her on the committee is Howard Swan, Charles Edwards and O. K. Clifford. The name is in pink and green letters over white and P. of H. are each on three shields in front. The drapery is prettily arranged in far forms. Two water colored paintings of roses and two oil landscape paintings are fine. There is a pyramid of canned fruit and the sofa pillows are tacked up by one corner and this keeps them well in place. Ex-Gov. Robie's picture is in the central back, and in front there is a photo display. The committee who have gathered this collection is made up of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. J. W. Nash, the Norway taxidermist, has a well arranged booth with his fish, mezzos, pictures with mounted birds, with painted landscapes, heads, birds, animals, etc. The white deer is a beautiful animal and the birch canoe with the four squirrels fishing "too cunning." Edmund J. Boucher was in charge here.

Miss Libby of the Cottage Studio, Norway, makes post cards the leading feature. Miss Libby makes cards from scenes taken from this vicinity and they have a ready sale as souvenirs to send to absent friends. There are also a few photographs, "just to show" it is a studio. A. Adie Shattuck is in charge. Merrill's studio has photo pictures, mostly studies of people we know, and it is interesting to note the remarks and friendly criticisms of acquaintances. The cut flowers fill all good sized places though there are only four exhibitors: Mrs. W. W. Stover, South Paris; Mrs. F. H. Cummings, Norway; Mrs. S. P. Stone, West Paris; Mrs. G. W. Hobbs, Norway. Mrs. Cummings' affairs from the table is that here are all dabbles. The paintings and crayons are well worth looking at this year. Mrs. T. P. Richardson and daughter, Lottie White, have nine oils, Ethel Ford, Bryant's Pond, two crayons, Clara Andrews, South Paris, an Old Man and Woman in oil; J. W. Nash, two crayons, cows and a dog's head; Mattie Richards, South Paris, Crab Apples, water colors; Hattie Haskell, South Paris, three fruit pieces; Addie Shattuck, Norway. "The Cur-field, Little Kitten"; Alice Hall, Buckfield, two oils.
The raffia work and the table of spoons were pleasing. Mrs. Phil. Mason, Paris, has two large, wise looking owls; Mrs. Ralph I. Treat, Norway, a corner piece of grapes in burnt leather; Mrs. A. S. Continued on page 4.

Fair Begins Tuesday.

Tuesday morning secretary Frothingham announced that the Fair would begin according to program, as though it was cloudy there was every indication of its clearing up by noon, the weather forecast being very favorable.

The hum of preparation was busily going on. The horses were present in large numbers, a goodly number having arrived Saturday. Nearly every stall was occupied.

Along the Trail, formerly called the midway, the tents and booths were up in generous numbers, and this most interesting department gave promise of being the greatest in the history of the fair. There are several new and uncustomed features this year to catch the attention and the nickles of the visitors.

Wednesday the First Day.

Everywhere on the grounds things were rushing, Wednesday, and it was not the least busy place in the office of the management. Here exhibitors and those who had space were coming in to get their stuff listed and to get tickets ready for the opening so that there would be no trouble about the way things would go when it was once started.

The track which was heavy on Tuesday, necessitated putting over the fair a day, had dried into fair shape Wednesday morning, and the management decided to proceed with the program, unless interrupted by rain. There was a fair attendance and all the amusement places along the Trail were in full blast.

Secretary's Department.

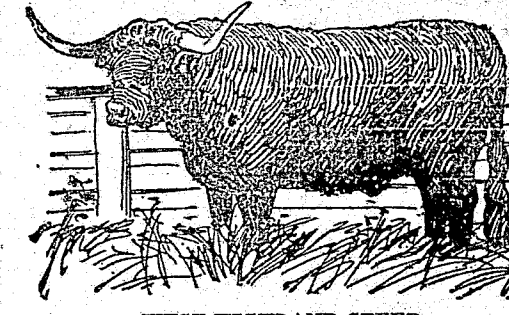

Secretary Wm. O. Frothingham is one of the busy men, and is ably assisted by a fine and experienced corps of assistants, nearly every one being a man and women who have served at several fairs. The tickets are sold by W. S. Starbird and H. W. Dennison. Alvin Brown has charge of the big gate, Herbert Flood the small gate.

In the entry department, we miss Carrie Hall who has served many years to the satisfaction of all. This year the clerks in charge of the hall department are Mary Pierce, Mrs. William Edgerley and Hattie Hooper. In the cattle department the entry class are Stanley Wheeler and Harry Wheeler. The police arrangements this year include James Nolan of the Lewiston police force, Charles F. Boober of Norway, Charles E. Bennett and Charles A. Titcomb of South Paris.

Agricultural Implements.

Improved farm machinery is the interest in agricultural hall. Plows of all kinds and models, gasoline engines, planters, spreaders, etc., are on exhibition. Western farm machinery adapted to New England needs are here in an endless variety to save the farmer's back. Gasoline engines are the specialty of A. W. Walker & Sons, one engine running to show the International manure spreader in operation. This machine has a capacity of 35, 50 and 75 bushels, one lever controlling the spreading and return adjusted to regulate the spread from 3 to 30 loads per acre.

They also have on exhibition spring tooth and disc harrows, reversible sulky plows, and a variety of other implements for one and two rows; the New England horse hoe and cultivator, Cambridge steel beam swivel and seed plow. This company is agent for the new plow, the John Deere steel plow with a cast steel moldboard. This is the first this plow has been seen in this State. It is arranged for two horses and is besides a labor saving device in advantage to the ground, leaving it in better condition than any hand plow. "It's introduction into this State," says the gentleman in charge, "has been with encouraging results."

The Weeber wagon for farm work is also in this exhibit, an implement built for two and one horse power. It is built in all sizes and weights.

They also have Eureka potatoes planter that furrow the row, drops potato and phosphate and covers the same, and plants as fast as the horse can walk. The exhibit is in charge of E. O. Russell of Portland. His concern are State agents for the John Deere Plow as seen in the A. W. Walker & Sons exhibit, this latter company controlling the agency for this section.

The Haskell Co. have also exhibited the Miller Manure Spreader with a solid bottom. It is for two horses and has a capacity of 40 bushels. This machine is also built for 50 and 70 bushel loads. They have two Deere disc harrows on exhibition, one 3 lever and one 2 riding Deere disc cultivators, also the Eclipse riding cultivator. Seen here is the two row corn planter, and the new Deere hay loader, as well as the Deere land plow. This company are the New England agents for the hay loader.

The gentleman in charge of this exhibit explained the use of the new corn planter that has of each interest at this fair. Said he "It is a western machine adapted for New England needs. The machine plants in two rows, checking the ground in squares for easy work. It drops the fertilizer as well and can be adjusted for any width between the rows. I think myself," he continued, "that the average farmer is planting his corn in too narrow rows—getting more crop than the ground can nourish. It may be of use to you to know that middle corn, obtained by cutting off the end and butt. Corn so planted, using only the best of seed will always yield better results and in the end is a decided wise thing to do."

F. C. Merrill of South Paris has a neat display of the O. K. Swivel plows that he builds himself. He has several sizes and patterns here including the seed plow, level land plow, swivel plow, and is agent for the Iron Age horse hoe and cultivator on exhibition here.

Entables and Amusement.

The first eating house is that of the Congregational society of South Paris, who have opened up their building next to the hall, and are ready to feed all comers.

The Second Congregational people of Norway have opened the eating house so long run by them and are serving their well prepared and excellent meals. The third building is as usual opened by the Norway Universalist society, who have meals that are every one who has sampled the cooking of these people will agree are all right.

Twitchell Bros. of Oxford have opened up their building, where they serve beans and oyster stews, peanuts and fruit. They open up early and get a large trade, especially of those who are on the grounds.

Alvin Lovejoy of South Paris occupies the same building as for years selling dinners of baked beans, oysters and meats that are all right.

F. H. Spinney of Bath has one of the best of this kind. He runs a range with ball babies striking machine and air rifle.

Williams and Wilson operate a ball game called the balletto, a ball game on a board with pegs and numbered holes. George Boutelle, West Paris, has a white booth devoted to ribbon, roses, perfumes and novelties.

McCarthy Bros., Lewiston, have a small stand and tent. The catch penny affair here is a fortune teller and fish pond.

E. H. Fellows, Lancaster, N. H., has a tent near the merry-go-round. He sells the candy "with the holes in it," and runs also a shooting gallery.

J. A. York, Portland, has set up a small shooting gallery and draws the boys around him.

Improvements. The most noticeable feature of improvement upon the grounds is the new inside fence to the track which has been entirely rebuilt opposite the grand stand with post, rail and paling and painted in the society's cream color. The outside fence by the grand stand has also been painted the same color.
